NINE OF FAMILY PERISH IN THEIR BURNING HOME

Son Aways from Home; Only One to Escape Fire Near Peabody, Mass.

PEABODY, Mass., Feb. 22.—Nine members of the family of George Miller, son of George Miller, who was killed in a fire which destroyed the Miller home near here early yesterday, were burned to death. The Miller family, who was employed in a neighboring farm, was the only member of the family who escaped. He was present when the bodies were discovered. The house was discovered by a neighbor who when informed of the fire found it burning. The dead are Morris Miller, Mrs. Miller, son, George, Eddie, Alfred, Minnie, Evelyn, John, Harry, May, Esther, and a baby two months old.

In stating this today, officials of the town property custodian said he had declared some of the houses already burned to be beyond repair. It was assumed that the caretaker had followed instructions from Mr. Hollingshead.

The dead are Morris Miller, Mrs. Miller, son, George, Eddie, Alfred, Minnie, Evelyn, John, Harry, May, Esther, and a baby two months old.
